

Ohio State Constitution Article I; Section 1.04

The people have the right to bear arms for their defense and security; but standing armies, in time of peace, are dangerous to liberty, and shall not be kept up; and the military shall be in strict subordination to the civil power.

All Ohio firearms laws noted here are provided only for your convenience. You are responsible to know and understand safety and the law before you carry a firearm.

Ohio does not require firearm registration nor is it necessary to obtain a Concealed Handgun License (CHL) before carrying a firearm or other such weapon openly about the person except where prohibited by statute.

In Ohio, one may openly carry a handgun in plain sight (holstered, of course) with no license. There is also no regulation on the open carry of a rifle
